The subject, in "The Village Voice" dated 7/18/68, page four, described himself as an anarchist. The same article indicates that the subject is a homosexual.

[redacted] a friend of the subject, stated that the subject has described himself in his writings as a homosexual.

"The Village Voice", dated 10/19/67, page four, reported that the subject participated in a demonstration which supported 181 men of The Resistance who declared that they refused to cooperate with the Selective Service System and urged all young men to join with them.

The subject was observed by SAs of the FBI on 4/1/68, 4/3/68, 11/8/68 and 5/16/69, participating in demonstrations which supported anti-draft and anti-Vietnam war activity.

"The Worker" on 10/15/67, page one, reported that the subject during a press conference urged young men to return their draft cards with the objective or forcing a confrontation with the Government.

"The Village Voice", 11/23/67, page six, carried a letter from the subject in which he supported draft card burnings.

"The First Issue", 2/26/68, carried an article by the subject which stated "there is unfortunately an advantage to a certain amount of violence...more attractive and potentially more effective is the opposite alternative of the young, for example, when a draft card burner is arraigned, five others burn their cards in the courtroom."

The information set out above indicates that the subject has anarchist beliefs and is likely to commit by himself or in concert with others, acts which could interfere with the effective operation and/or survival of the national, state and local governments and/or the defense effort.

Date July 15, 1969

[redacted] identified himself as [redacted] employed by the publishing firm of Random House, Incorporated. He advised that Random House publishes books written by PAUL GOODMAN and that he is the Random House editor who works with GOODMAN.

[redacted] was advised that the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) was conducting a confidential inquiry and that certain information regarding GOODMAN would be helpful in bringing the inquiry to a logical conclusion.

[redacted] asked if it would be possible for him to be informed as to "what the investigation was about".

[redacted] was advised that the nature of the inquiry was confidential, that it involved the national security and that it would be impossible to furnish him any additional information regarding the nature of the inquiry.

[redacted] pointed out that he and GOODMAN have been personal friends for twenty years and that he has been [redacted] for ten years. He added that he felt that he had an obligation to inform GOODMAN that the FBI had contact him for information concerning GOODMAN during the course of an official and confidential inquiry.

[redacted] was advised that, if that were the case, the interview could be regarded as being terminated. It was pointed out to [redacted] that he was under no obligation to furnish any information to the FBI; however, it was pointed out to [redacted] that, as a citizen of the United States, he might feel that he might have a duty to cooperate with a duly constituted investigative agency of his government.

[redacted] stated that he would be glad to make some general comments regarding GOODMAN, comments which he felt would be helpful to the FBI and pertinent to any inquiry regarding GOODMAN.

[redacted] was advised that his comments regarding GOODMAN were not being solicited, that he was under no obligation to make any comment whatsoever regarding GOODMAN and that those comments he did make, would be made freely, voluntarily and without duress. [redacted] was cautioned that if he did make any comments regarding GOODMAN, those comments would be made a matter of record and that those comments could be used in court.

[redacted] delivered his commentary on GOODMAN; it included the following information:

b6
b7C

GOODMAN is a brilliant mind; he is an author, lecturer, educator and social critic. His central work is a book entitled, "Growing Up Absurd".

GOODMAN's ideas and philosophy follow those of RALPH WALDO EMERSON and HENRY DAVID THOREAU.

GOODMAN is a good American. He is sincerely interested in making these United States a better country and the world a better place in which to live.

GOODMAN is an anarchist by conviction; he is not the bomb throwing kind of anarchist. Rather, he is the kind of anarchist who believes that the government should do for the people less and less and that the people should do more and more for themselves. He feels that the United States Government has become excessively bureaucratic and that it would be well "to open the windows and allow a little air to get in".

GOODMAN is an ardent pacifist; he is against all war.

GOODMAN is and always has been aggressively anti-communist. He has never had anything to do with the trotskyites. He was bitterly anti-communist even when it was not fashionable and financially unrewarding to be anti-communist. During the 1930's, GOODMAN had difficulty in finding a publisher for his literary efforts because of his well known anti-communist stance. In spite of this, GOODMAN never compromised his anti-communist principles. GOODMAN has some very unique ideas regarding education. In particular, he feels that the high schools do not really educate our young people.

GOODMAN has had a rather complex sex life. He has, in several instances, stated in his writing that he is a homosexual. He has a wife and family and sees no contradiction.

His son lost his life in a tragic accident several years ago. His eldest daughter, in her early twenties, lives away from the family; she is working on her doctoral degree. His other child, a daughter about six years old, resides with him and her mother on West 20th Street, in Manhattan, New York City.

GOODMAN has written extensively regarding his anarchist philosophy, his pacifism, his anti-draft, anti-war policies and of his homosexuality.

GOODMAN is associated with "Liberation" magazine.

GOODMAN has no regular employment or office; he is self-employed as a writer under contract to Random House, Inc., working from his residence.

GOODMAN has some very unique ideas regarding education. In particular, he feels that our high schools are terribly oppressive and do not really educate our children.

The subject wrote a letter to the editor discussing the prosecution of draft card burners. He wrote, "we older citizens who have supported and 'conspired with' these youths have deposed to the prosecutor that we are equally or even more 'guilty' and should therefore be subpoenaed to testify."

The "Village Voice"
November 23, 1967
Page 6, Column 1

The subject wrote an article entitled, "Students, Professionals and the Resistance", in which he discussed violence and resistance. He stated that the presence or absence of violence is not important in populist resistance; however, the amount of violence is important and the purpose of the violence is of the essence. He pointed out that there is, unfortunately, an advantage to a certain amount of violence; it makes people understand that the matter is serious. In massive demonstrations, there is bound to be violence. He wrote that "more attractive and potentially more effective is the opposite alternative of the young: nonviolent terrorism -- for example, when a draft-card burner is arraigned, five others burn their cards in the courtroom."

The "First Issue"
February 26, 1968

The "First Issue" noted that the article was reprinted with the permission of the subject and "Liberation" magazine where it first appeared.

The subject, on April 4, 1968, issued a statement at a press conference, called by the Resistance; he praised pacifists and draft resisters. He stated that "the present great need was for national youth movements of protest to find one another in an international youth movement against the irrational and incompetent authority of the power structure in the world.

NY T-5
April 5, 1968

A leaflet captioned "April 3," issued by the WRL in NYC, stated that the subject had written an article for "WIN" a WRL publication entitled, "The Expendables."

NY T-6

The subject was among the signers of a statement which denounced American aggression in Vietnam, and charged the United States with crimes against humanity. During a press conference, the subject compared the current anti-war, anti-draft movements with the great movements for social change which are a part of American history. He charged that the President and the Congress (of the United States) have ceased to represent the popular will and added that he feared "facist coup."

The subject and six others publically associated themselves with returning of draft cards by two young draft resisters to show solidarity with five individuals already indicted for such action. The action took place at the Overseas Press Club, NYC, where two young men turned in their draft cards for mailing to the Attorney General of the United States. The subject and five others signed a statement which declared, "we return this card to you as an indication of our full and direct support to DAVID OSHER in his refusal to serve in the United States Armed Forces at this time." Later, when reached at his apartment, the subject made this statement: "In general, revolutionary tactics which are used ought themselves to lead to the kind of society we want to live in. I want a society which is less authoritarian than the big powers today. A real democracy tolerates a lot of populist dissent and civil disobedience. Since that's where I want to go, I think it's good to start now. Therefore, in opposing the horror of the Vietnam war, I prefer this kind of tactic."

The character of this case is being changed from SM - ANARCHIST to SM - SUBVERSIVE as per Bureau instructions.

The pretext utilized to determine the subject's residence and employment was made by SA [redacted] on October 12, 1971, under the guise of serving on jury duty.

In regard to the NYO request for the Los Angeles Office to furnish a copy of an article that appeared in the Los Angeles "Herald Examiner" on October 13, 1966, in which the subject was mentioned, it was learned that the "Herald Examiner" had been on strike for better than a year and probably would go out of business and would no longer maintain a morgue file.

Report of SA ROBERT D. ALDRICH dated September 27, 1968, at Philadelphia entitled, [redacted] SSN [redacted] ET AL furnished what information Philadelphia possessed in their files in regard to the subject as requested by the NYO in referenced report.

Report of SA ALDRICH, previously mentioned, Cover Page C* disclosed that prosecutive action against the subject may have been under consideration as of September 25, 1968. Philadelphia letter to New York dated October 21, 1969, indicated that there was a possibility that prosecutive action against the subject might be undertaken some time in the future. In view of this, the NYO is taking no further action as Philadelphia will report all pertinent information to the Bureau in this regard.

ADMINISTRATIVE (cont'd)

Philadelphia letter to Bureau, June 19, 1968, captioned, "AMERICAN FRIENDS SERVICE COMMITTEE (AFSC), IS - C" showed that one PAUL GOODMAN was listed in the "Friends Journal", May 15, 1968, Page 251, issue as a discussion leader of domestic affairs at a Peace Education Division of the AFSC scheduling functions at various locations throughout the US and Ontario, Canada. This information is not being included in this report as the information is unconfirmed and not considered pertinent to this case.

DETAILS

I. BACKGROUND

A. Residence and Employment

DECLASSIFIED BY 730L TJS/tk 314171

R/S and Re-Declassification 3/4/77/has

RECORDED BY [REDACTED] ON [REDACTED]

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

NY 100-161310

It was ascertained on August 12, 1971, that subject resides at 402 West 20th Street, New York, New York, and is self-employed from his residence as a writer.

Suitable Pretext by a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI)
August 12, 1971

The subject owns an old house located about six miles south of North Stratford, New Hampshire. The house was probably, at one time, owned by the Canadian National Railroad, and the track of this road runs about 20 yards from the house. Other than that, the house is completely isolated with no close neighbors and cannot be seen from Route 3, which is about 400 yards away. About 200 yards west of the house is the Connecticut River and then the State of Vermont. Proceeding north on Route 3 from Groveton, one will come upon the Big Rock camping area on the right side of the road. The next dirt road on the left, about 200 yards, is the road that leads to GOODMAN's place.

The subject has no contact with the local people outside of shopping and picking up his mail. He and his family let it be known when they first arrived that if they wanted to see anyone, they would invite them. They usually fly to Berlin, New Hampshire, by Northeast Airlines, and a man who runs Hapgood's Texaco Gas Station in West Stewartstown, will drive over to Berlin and pick them up. The GOODMANs register an old Chevrolet automobile each year in New Hampshire and keep it in an old garage attached to the house. The subject's boy who was killed climbing a mountain in the Stark, New Hampshire area, a few years ago, is buried in a cemetery located on Route 3 near the old farm house.

The subject receives the "Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) New Left Notes", a newspaper published by SDS, 1608 West Madison, Chicago, Illinois, about every two weeks. This is the only mail that he gets during the winter. The subject, if he plans on spending the summer at his home, usually arrives around the first part of June.

NY T-1
May 15, 1969

SDS was founded during June, 1962, at Port Huron, Michigan, and in the 1960's functioned as the leading New Left campus-based student organization in the United States. From a stance of "participatory democracy," the SDS moved to a radical-revolutionary position. It maintained a national office at 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois, until February, 1970. Internal factionalism during 1969 produced three main factions: Weatherman, Revolutionary Youth Movement (RYM), and Worker Student Alliance (WSA). The Weatherman and RYM no longer consider themselves associated with the SDS. The WSA faction continues to use the name SDS.

B. Arrest Record

On July 22, 1971, the records of the Intelligence Division, Security and Investigative Section (SIS), New York City Police Department (NYCPD) were caused to be checked by

NY 100-161310

Special Agent AUGUST J. NICEK, and no identifiable record was located for the subject.

II. AFFILIATION WITH SUBVERSIVE ORGANIZATIONS AND RELATED MATTERS

The September 25, 1969, issue of "The Village Voice", Page 18, Column 1, listed PAUL GOODMAN's name on an "Ad Hoc Committee for a Free Ballot" to support the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) and the Socialist Labor Party (SLP) in the November Mayoralty Election. These minor parties were forced off the ballot the week before after challenges to their petitions were lodged by the supporters of Mayor JOHN V. LINDESEY, New York City.

"The Village Voice" is a Greenwich Village, New York City, community newspaper.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The SLP is a minor political party who has in the past seeked a social political change in the United States through the ballot system.

An article from "The Village Voice" newspaper dated October 9, 1969, Page 21, Column 1, listed PAUL GOODMAN as a "contributor" to the "Liberation" magazine.

"Liberation" magazine, an independent monthly, is published in New York City. Since its inception in 1956, it has printed "anti-establishment" articles written by individuals supporting world-wide communism, black militants, and New Left radicals. DAVE DELLINGER, leading figure in the New Left Movement, is the editor.

NY 100-161310

The name of PAUL GOODMAN, author of several books, was listed as a speaker who is available for every segment of political and social activism in the movement through the Movement Speakers Bureau.

NY T-2

August 29, 1970

The Movement Speakers Bureau was organized in New York City in 1969 by ABBIE HOFFMAN, convicted "Chicago Seven" Anti-Riot Law defendant, for booking radical speakers on college campuses.

III. MISCELLANEOUS

The name of PAUL GOODMAN, author of several books criticizing the American educational system, was listed as a speaker at the Annual Festival of Liberation Conference at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, California, on November 14-15, 1970.

The conference, generically described, was a libertarian convention but attempted to include attendance and participants from both the political right and left.

NY T-3

November 17, 1970

The libertarian movement has been publicly described as originating from a split in the Young Americans for Freedom (YAF), a conservative youth group who politically supported Mayor SAM YORTY of Los Angeles and Governor RONALD REAGAN of California. On splitting with the YAF, the libertarians disavowed sex laws, drug laws, the draft, the military industrial complex, and taxation. Libertarian social posture leans closely to hippies, anarchists, and people who preach participatory democracy. Libertarians say that only the individual knows what is best for him and any government should be voluntary.

NY 100-161310

Sponsorship for the Annual Festival of Liberation Conference was claimed by the following three libertarian groups:

Action Coaltion for Freedom (ACF) which is described as a libertarian student group at the University of Southern California includes the self-proclaimed anarchists and adheres to libertarianism as previously described.

Rampart College is described as a libertarian institution located at 104 West Fourth Street, Santa Ana, California, which claims tax exempt status as a non-profit educational institution. Rampart College promotes libertarian study groups and lectures.

California Libertarian Alliance (CLA) is described as the name given to a loose-knit libertarian group which sometimes functions to promote slight cooperation between various California libertarian groups. Strict organization and a hierarchy of officials are lacking since this is contrary to libertarian principles.

Other confidential sources who are familiar with various phases of subversive activity in the New York City area were contacted during July and August, 1971, advised they did not know the subject or had any unreported information concerning him.

Bureau memorandum dated 6/17/64 made reference to pages 13507-13524 of the "Congressional Record". Congressman Ryan, (D) New York, spoke concerning the activities of the Council of Federated Organizations (COFO) (62-109384). Ryan pointed out that the COFO planned to launch a massive education, community improvement, and voter registration drive in Mississippi. He stated that in order to alert the nation to the denial of constitutional rights and the terror and violence in Mississippi, COFO on 6/8/64, held an all-day session of hearings before a panel of distinguished Americans. Included on the panel was Paul Goodman, author and educator.
